Coast Guard Search 'Planes and Destroyer Escort "Saudley" Had Carried Out Search for Airliner and Its 65 Passengers Throughout Early Hours Today—Migratory Workers From Puerto Rico Made Up Most of List

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO, June 6—Government officials said in San Juan today they have been advised that 42 of 65 persons aboard the non-scheduled airliner that crashed in the Atlantic off Florida have been rescued. The survivors were reported taken off rafts to which they clung after the airliner sank.

By James Russell
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI, June 6—(INS)—Capt. G. E. McCabe, in charge of Coast Guard operations at Miami, said 330 more planes and additional vessels will swing into an intensive search over a 100-mile radius at daybreak for an airliner reported to have crashed into the Atlantic, 330 miles off Miami.

A spokesman for Westair Transport Co., owners of the missing C-46, said the only known list of passengers—reportedly migratory workers from Puerto Rico—was aboard the plane.

He identified the pilot as Joseph Halsey, about 30, of Seattle, Wash., and the co-pilot as William Holleran.

The twin-engined airliner was en route from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Wilmington, N. C., with an additional stop scheduled at Miami, N. J., when it radioed at 10:06 o'clock (EST) last night that it was "down to 200 feet and going in the drink."

Earlier the pilot reported that one engine was misfiring and he was heading for Nassau, 240 miles away.

Coast Guard officers said the big C-46 probably could stay afloat "only a few minutes."

At least eight Coast Guard and Army planes and two cutters from Atlantic coastal bases and Bermuda were sent to the area where the disabled craft was last heard from. A Navy destroyer escort in the vicinity was sent to the search area.

Coast Guard officers in Miami, who were co-ordinating the search, said another Westair plane in the area reported at 11:30 o'clock (EST) that it crew sighted a red flare and a flashlight blinking out the emergency signals "S.O.S."

The missing transport was said to be well-stocked with emergency equipment, including seven 10-man life rafts, 65 Mae West life preservers, and a single "Sibson Girl" emergency radio transmitter.

The nearest land area to the point where the plane was believed to have "ditched" was a sparsely inhabited Bahama Island 150 miles away.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The Supreme Court, in three unanimous rulings issued yesterday, held that Negroes could not be segregated in railroad dining cars, that Texas could not bar a Negro from its all-white law school and that Oklahoma could not force a Negro to sit apart from whites in university classes. The court, with two justices dissenting, refused, however, to review a lower court's ruling that the exclusion of Negroes as tenants in Stuyvesant Town did not violate the Constitution.

Reaffirming its California Tidelands ruling, the court held that the United States had "paramount rights" over states to submerged, coastal oil-bearing lands, and rejected appeals by Texas and Louisiana.

Defense Secretary Johnson and Secretary of State Acheson explained the foreign arms-aid program to three Congressional committees. Both expressed confidence in what was described as a good start on the long and "only remaining road to peace and security." Their optimism was said to stem from the ability of new arms to hold off a numerically larger army.

This country's readiness on the civilian front to meet war was found wanting in many directions.

Doylestown Seniors Take Business Entrance Tests

DOYLESTOWN, June 6—Ten senior pupils of Doylestown high school went to Lower Merion high school a few days ago to participate in business entrance tests.

The tests, which have been devised by a group of businessmen and teachers, have been used since 1934 and are now given throughout the nation. Covering two hours, the tests cover a "sampling" of bookkeeping, including the search for mistakes made previously; typing from rough drafts through form letters and tabulation, and short-hand with 35 minutes of dictation and 1½ hours of transcription. A score of 72 or more is required to qualify the student for proper certification.

All but one of the ten students, it has now been announced, have been certified. They were accompanied by Miss Blanche W. Clifton, head of the business department here.

Those entered in the bookkeeping group were Patricia Ettinger, Phyllis Musselman, Daniel Sparks and Stanley Rimmer; shorthand, Elizabeth High, Charlene Houssell and Caroline Irwin; typing, Ann Evangelides and June Bennett.

RELEASES LETTER FOR PUBLICATION

Communication From The Rev. Peter Pinci Is Given The Press

ON LOGAN ST. TRAFFIC

A letter read by Councilman S. Joseph Alta, II., at a meeting of Bristol borough council, held May 8th, and which at that time was withheld from publication, due to the fact that the writer had not been asked to give permission for its publication, was today released to the press.

The letter, written by the Rev. Peter A. Pinci, pastor of St. Ann's Church, deals with traffic regulation on Logan street, along which St. Ann's school is located.

An effort had been made to close Logan street to traffic during certain hours of the day.

The letter reads:

May 6, 1950.
Mr. Joseph Alta, II.,
Chairman of Police Committee,
Bristol Borough Council,
Bristol, Penna.

Dear Mr. Alta:
Recently, it came to my attention, through the local paper and through personal contact with different borough officials, of the traffic congestion on Logan street, in front of St. Ann's School.

As I personally discussed this condition with you, in the past, my opinion was in those days that the above congestion was going to clear out by itself for reasons already known by you and other borough officials.

Today, such a clearance is an accomplished fact—no more traffic congestion exists on Logan street as you may investigate.

St. Ann's School, being located in the same location for the last quarter of a century, has no record of any accident on Logan street. There has been one accident in the crossing of Jefferson avenue and Pond street.

Bristol Township

Approximately 290 pupils with their teachers of the Edgely school visited the Holland Fair Friday, May 26th, in Philadelphia. Much educational information about Holland was obtained, as well as the experience of visiting a large department store. Many of the children had their first experience in using the escalators—as one sixth grade boy expressed it "the ride on the escalator was the whole trip to me."

The Edgely and Edgely primary schools held the annual school picnic Friday at Cadwalader Park, Trenton, N. J., under the auspices of the East Bristol Township Parent-Teachers Association.

The third grade children of the Croydon School have thoroughly enjoyed their pleasure reading program this year. The books read by the children have been reported on in this manner. The child reporting reads several pages from a story in a book. Next, a classmate (chosen by the teacher) finds a story for the child to tell to the class. If this has been done satisfactorily, credit is given for having read the book.

WATER PROBLEMS AT HULMEVILLE ARE DISCUSSED

Councilmen To Seek Advice For Securing Such Service

NAME VICE-PRESIDENT

Will Prohibit Parking On One Side of Green Street

HULMEVILLE, June 6—The need for extension of water mains throughout Hulmeville borough occupied a portion of the June meeting of Hulmeville borough council last evening; councilmen decided to prohibit parking on the north side of Green street; and instructions were given to order material for patching of some streets.

Suggestion was made during the meeting that a poll be taken of property owners to learn the number who would connect with the mains should water service become available in the borough. No definite action was taken on this phase; however the secretary, Mrs. Edward Black, was instructed to contact the Bureau of Forests and Waters, Harrisburg, placing before that bureau the local needs, arranging to discuss with representatives what steps might be taken to remedy the situation. A water committee was named by President George Bilger, this

The best way to prevent such a catastrophe is to be prepared to meet those masses of heavily mechanized ground forces with smaller numbers of highly scientific ground troops equipped with revolutionary new weapons."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Klerman
(Distributed by International News Service)

Three cats that inherited a 16 room house in Rhode Island have had to move out and let people in. . . . They're raising quite a meow about it.

But it just shows what has happened to property rights. . . . A landlord has no control over his building today even if he purrs.

One landlord was taken to court by tenants in his apartment house. . . . The court granted alimony to the tenants and gave him custody of the furnace.

He is to be permitted to visit the lobby once a month and if a tenant offers to pay rent he can accept it. . . . but he musn't hint.

This continuing government control over rental property is the greatest armed truce in history and when some of those landlords finally get at some of those tenants they'll make the Second World War look like the first badminton tournament.

The old saying is, when you've got a lion by the tail. . . . he's not enjoying it.

FRANCE CANNOT WAIT

It may be said in later years that the return of France to a position of respected authority in the European family of nations dates from May 9, 1950. It was on that day that French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman first broached the courageous plan for a pooling of French and German coal and steel production as a common base for economic development. The door to join in the agreement was left open to any and all nations of Europe.

To date the result of Schuman's proposal has been encouraging. The Belgian and West German governments have already agreed to negotiate on the basis of the French plan. Luxembourg is expected to follow suit. Italy has just announced it will be pleased to participate in future talks. The principal holdout is Britain.

London's position, clarified in a note to the French government, is that participation in the talks is favorably regarded, but no commitments as to pooling of production and effort is possible. The British want to see what effect this continental pooling would have on the island's economy and what impact their nationalized steel industry would be called upon to absorb, if any.

Schuman's attitude is that time is awasting and that delays now could mean failure later. When two governments have decided practically overnight to dovetail the workings of their larger industries there is certainly plenty of work to be done.

Admittedly, there are many pitfalls in the way of perfect industrial cooperation. Naturally the Kremlin will do its best to wreck the agreement in any way possible. There are non-communist opponents of the scheme as well. Britain's attitude is certainly no help.

CANADA REDUCES TAXES

During the five years since the end of World War II national taxes in Canada have been reduced 43 per cent, and the cost of government cut exactly in half. Canada reversed the rule in the United States, where one new tax leads to another.

Canadians have discovered that ending one levy makes it possible to end another, and so on progressively. When the war-inflated structure of the government was reduced to its normal size, it became easy to reduce tax levies accordingly.

There may be an explanation why Canada can reduce taxes so drastically while in this country there seems to be no hope that they will ever be lowered. In fact, politicians are constantly seeking new sources of revenue. Wartime levies are still in existence, and Congress has all but abandoned even the appearance of gestures toward economy.

If Canada can reduce taxes why cannot the United States? Millions of Americans would like to know the answer to that question. If the answer is not forthcoming, many members of Congress may be targets of the taxpayers' wrath come November.

Skilled Mechanic

One of the many good mechanics in Souderton, "Don" Fly keeps quite a few cars and trucks in good running order. One of them is the Bell Telephone truck pictured. This raises a point worth remembering: Bell Telephone's big fleet of nearly 3,500 vehicles in Pennsylvania is really many little fleets...brought from local dealers, driven by local telephone men, serviced by local garages and gasoline stations.

That's typical of the telephone industry. Last year alone Bell Telephone did business...as a customer...with some 2,000 Pennsylvania companies, in more than 200 communities. This helped provide work and wages for countless mechanics and other skilled people throughout the state.

Any way you look at it, the successful operation of the telephone business means a great deal to the steady employment of a great many Pennsylvanians, both in and out of the telephone industry.

WHO OWNS PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC?

PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC COMPANY is owned by 108,571 stockholders, mostly people like you and your neighbors.

More than half of P.E.'s stock is owned in Philadelphia and nearby communities served by the Company!

That so many customers invest their savings with us is a source of inspiration. P.E.'s first concern is the well-being of the communities it serves, and this indication of customer satisfaction with the way the Company does business is an important factor in our ability to plan successfully for the future.

This year alone P.E. is spending more than $54,000,000 as part of its program to provide continuous and adequate electric service to meet all needs.

These facts tell the story

- More than half of P.E.'s common stock is held in the area served by the Company.
- More than 90 per cent of the common stockholders are individuals from all walks of life.
- No individual stockholder owns as much as 1/2 of 1 per cent of the total shares outstanding.
- About 10 per cent of the stockholders are institutional investors—such as churches, colleges, insurance companies, and banks holding stock as trustees of thousands of individuals.
- There are 21,000 stockholders who own less than ten shares; 54,000 own less than fifty shares.
- About one P.E. employee out of every three is a stockholder.

Seniors Enjoy A Banquet Served At The County Seat

DOYLESTOWN, June 6.—Doylestown high school class of 1950 conducted a banquet in the Presbyterian educational building at the end of the week.

Dr. J. Edward Smith, superintendent of schools, spoke on "Recipe for Happiness."

"Everyone regards happiness as their goal in life," he said, "but remember it is always a by-product of personal achievement and service to others. The most unhappy people are those who have only earned how to make money, not how to live, love and pray."

Arthur T. Reese, high school principal, also wished the class happiness and good luck.

With Walter Myers acting as master of ceremonies, the program included the invocation by Donald odds; piano duet, Joan Klein, Charlotte Nash; violin solo, Donald odds; vocal solo, Ruth Detweiler; rumpet solo, Thomas Ralston; barber shop quartet, John Shadinger, Richard Sheaffer, Donald odds and Earle Yerkes.

Highlights of the evening were the class will, read by Robert Taylor, and the class prophecies, which were compiled by Joan Klein, Sue Ackerman and Jean Fischer, and served as place cards for the affair, each being passed to another member to be read aloud.

Group singing was also enjoyed with Joan Klein as accompanist, and Earle Yerkes as director.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Edwin L. Thomas
Pastor
Newport Rd. Community Chapel

O Lord, our gracious Father, who hast revealed Thy love to us, help us to answer it with our love to Thee. And since Thou hast taught us to call Thee our Father, may we, in the consciousness of Thy love and Fatherhood, be imitators of God, as beloved children, and walk in love. We thank Thee, O Father, for all which Thou dost give to Thy servants to help them to grow like Thee. We pray that we may rightly use and faithfully employ all these great gifts of Thine, so that day by day we may be nearer to being perfect as our Father in Heaven is perfect. Amen.
